Early Peaches Move To Market At Top Prices

Virginia crop of early peaches—coming mainly from the Northern Neck and South Central areas—is moving to market at top prices now, reports Fred Dreilling, associate extension horticulturalist at VPI.

The peaches, mostly of the Early-Red-Fre variety, are selling for as much as $9.00 a bushel on the East-Virginia market; but prices are related for a drop as volume increases, Dreilling believes.

The Early-Red-Fre variety with excellent size and good form, is showing better than it has for many years, the specialist reports.

The next variety to move on Virginia markets will be Red Havens.

Dreilling says most of the peaches in the state this year are early varieties, rather than the more prominent Elberta. The Elberta is less resistant to late spring freezes, and has suffered heavily this year.

As for the insect-disease situation—it's not too severe a problem this year. There is a clean crop, with less-than-usual brown rot and insect damage.

The 1950 peach crop, however, is estimated at about 950,000 bushels —a 45 per cent drop from last year. Nationwide, the outlook is for about 56,000,000 bushels, or 75 per cent of the 1949 crop.

In the Roanoke area, the peach crop will run about 1-3 to 1-2 of normal. Here too, early varieties are bearing heavier than the late varieties.

Chest Clinic Is Scheduled

Cooperating with the medical profession of the county, a tuberculosis clinic will be held during the week of July 17 through the morning of July 20, in Appomattox, at the Health Center, under the direction of a specialist from the State Department of Health. There will be no charge except for the chest x-rays at a maximum cost of one dollar ($1.00) per person.

A written request for these examinations must be obtained from your doctor.

Upon obtaining this written request apply to your local county nurse for a clinic appointment well in advance of the clinic. Only a limited number of persons may be examined and x-rayed in these clinics, hence appointments made prior to the clinic date are imperative to obtain this service.

It can not be too strongly emphasized that tuberculosis is a communicable disease. Everyone who is, or has recently been, exposed to a known case of tuberculosis in the home or elsewhere should be examined and x-rayed periodically either by the family physician or by the state clinician.

GOOD PROSPECT FOR QUAIL IN VA.

According to I. T. Quinn, Executive Director of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, reports from game technicians and wardens in the field indicate the best prospects in years for the coming quail season.

Heavy concentrations of birds are being seen everywhere and a high degree of nesting success is indicated.

Local heavy rains in the past few weeks may interfere with the birds in some areas, but generally speaking the all over state picture is highly optimistic.

Dry weather during the spring hatching season may have been one of the major factors in this year's increase in Virginia's most popular game bird, but Mr. Quinn stated that constant habitat improvement work by the state's farmers and sportsmen, is also an important factor in the increase. "The weather may be fine," said the executive director, "but unless the birds have food and cover, they just won't survive."

Wheat Support Prices Listed

Price support for the 1950 wheat crop in Virginia, averaging about $2.24 a bushel, four cents higher than last year, was announced this week by R. B. Bridgforth, State Committee Chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration.

The support level is set at 90 per cent of the parity price for wheat at the beginning of the marketing year, July 1, 1950, and is mandatory in accordance with the Agricultural Act of 1949, the chairman explained. The program is effected through loans and purchase agreements available to producers through January 1951, on wheat stored on farms or in approved warehouses.

In Virginia, the basic support rate varies by counties from $2.18 to $2.28 per bushel, and in all cases is substantially higher in this state than the national average rate of $1.99 per bushel.

In Appomattox County the support rate is $2.23 per bushel.

The terminal loan rates for 1950 wheat stored in eligible warehouses in Philadelphia, Baltimore, or Norfolk is $2.42 per bushel.

All loan rates are based on wheat grading U. S. No. 1 with certain discounts for other grades. Only wheat grading No. 3 or better, or No. 4 or No. 5, solely because of test weight, is eligible for price support. Likewise, to be eligible, wheat must have been produced within individual farm acreage allotments as determined by local PMA county committees.

With the harvest of Virginia's 1950 winter wheat crop nearing completion, Bridgforth said that a substantial quantity is now being received at approved elevators in the state for storage under the price support program.

Last year 3,010 Virginia farmers placed 827,580 bushels of wheat (about one-tenth of the 1949 crop) under Government loans amounting to $1,782,909, at an average loan rate of $2.20 per bushel. According to PMA Chairman Bridgforth the 1949 program enabled these 3,010 Virginia producers to realize an increased income well in excess of $350,000 more than that which they could have realized by selling at harvest time when prices are usually low.

Current crop reports, released by the State Division of Agricultural Statistics, indicates a 1950 wheat production in Virginia of 7,673,000 bushels. If realized, such a crop would be 12 per cent under last year's production and 4 per cent below the past ten-year average.

Ten per cent increase is reported in state's flue-cured tobacco crop.

Pump Station Construction Is Under Way

Work is now under way on the booster pump station of the Transcontinental Natural Gas Pipeline, located about three miles west of Appomattox. A force of some 75 men will be employed in this construction and the job will require upwards of eight months for completion. These booster pump stations are located some 75 miles apart on the Texas to New York pipeline, now approaching its final stages of completion.

A permanent staff of 24 will be stationed at the station here upon its completion. There will be three shifts of eight men on duty.

It is also understood that a permanent line crew of seven or eight men will be stationed in Appomattox.

WARNING ON OLD ABANDONED WELLS

Appomattox County Sheriff David F. Robertson this week called attention to a state law making it an offense to have an old, abandoned well on one's property. He cited the danger of children or livestock falling into such wells, and said that this week we had shown him which the property owner had long since forgotten about. It was nearly 6 feet wide at the top, forty feet deep and partially covered with vines: just the sort of abandoned well to entrap children playing within reach.

He urged that property-owners fill in such abandoned wells.

Sheriff Robertson also warned of the danger of dynamite caps lying around after blasting. These could be a menace, he said.
